2. In Port of Raahen Ltd railway work and shunting safety instructions: www.portofraahe.fi

3 A description of the railway network

Connection points into the Finnish Transport agency's railway network have been presented in the attached railway chart excerpt.

The Port of Raahen Lapaluoto harbor area's railway network consists of two separate portions, of which the first 625-meter-long portion is outside of the actual harbor area and the other 643-meter-long portion consisting partly of two railway tracks is in the harbor area. Between these two portions is a railway track belonging to The Finnish Transport Agency

Diesel-fueled equipment is used on the railway tracks.

The speed limit on the railway tracks is 10m/h.

The axle load on the railway tracks is 225 kN.

4 Sharing and admittance of capacity and application instructions

On the Port of Raahen Ltd. railway network:

- there is no scheduled traffic: all the railway capacity is admitted in the order that trains are arriving on the state's railway network
- if there is confusion concerning the arrival order, the port engineer will resolve the issue, taking into consideration factors affecting the issue such as the schedules of vessels that need to be loaded
- departure on the railway network depends on how the Finnish Transport Agency is capable of accepting trains on the state's railway network

5 Services offered on the railway network

No services are offered for users of the railway network on the Port of Raahen's tracks.

6 Pricing

6.1 Railway fee
